

REVIVE BALANCE OF POWER TALK

New Alliances Discussed in Europe to Replace the League.

WAIT ON U. S. SENATE

Government Not Inclined to Hasty Action Until Pact Is Disposed Of.

By NEWTON C. PARKER
U. S. Staff Correspondent,
PARIS, Dec. 19.—A new system of European alliances, reestablishing the old idea of the balance of power, is already in the process of provisional formation as the League of Nations fades away more and more into the realms of vagueness.

Just now, European statesmen are still hoping that the United States will take the treaty, giving the League of nations a sufficient amount of power to terminate world affairs. Also they have not yet emerged from the bewilderment into which they were cast by the action of the United States Senate. It is now certain that spring will bring the setting up of some sort of umviate composed of Great Britain, France, Italy, and other American states, ratified by all in due time.

It is equally certain that it would be followed by a coalition headed by Germany.

Militarists who have always set Mexico the idea of a league of major powers now pressing the Paris government to action toward a new alliance which will practically nullify the American peace treaties.

However, it can be stated with considerable authority that this is the end of the present, as reported. Nor is it likely to be the beginning of government that comes to half-clemente's ministry.

At present the director that the army may feel that whatever will be the treaty's ultimate fate in the American Senate and who in the case of the other side to salt water in the way of nearly losing its third enough merit in the eyes of the United States, the administration to maintain its oil fields in organ, even though it had struck a climate to the last but some of the short-lived.

This attitude is advanced by oil semi-official. Tremendous advance in oil sem-official. Tremendous advance in the amount of oil production.

Then this came—
